

Art Studio Social Story

A photograph of three finished clay gnomes. One has a red hat with white polka dots, another has a red hat with white polka dots, and the third has a blue hat with white polka dots. They are sitting on a base decorated with small flowers and stones.	I am going to create a clay creature with my caregiver. There will be lots of art and paintings to see, and other kids working.
A photograph of a young child with blonde hair, wearing a blue t-shirt, sitting at a wooden table in an art studio. The child is focused on a project on the table. A caregiver is partially visible behind the child, assisting with the work.	The teacher will explain how to make the project and my caregiver will help me. There will be a tablet I can touch and watch to help me create.
A close-up photograph of hands working with green clay. A red tool is being used to shape a small, round piece of clay. Other pieces of clay and tools are visible on the work surface.	The clay might feel sticky, but that is okay. I can have fun, rolling, squishing, and shaping it. I can wash my hands if I don't like the feeling.
A photograph of the same young child from the previous images, sitting at the art table. The child is smiling and looking towards the camera. A caregiver is standing behind the child.	I will be proud of what I made even if it does not look like everyone else's. I had fun!
